THE INTERNAL TAXES.

Whatever may be done with the tariff question by Congress, sound public policy begins to demand the removal of the revenue tax. This was essentially a war tax, and ought not to have been maintained an hour after the needs of the public service began to be met from other sources. Only three times has the government resorted to a system of internal taxation, and each case the incitement was the burden of war. Hamilton's scheme was to meet the debt caused by the Revolution, and though the feeling of patriotism and exuberant joy over the creation of a new and free nation was prevalent, it required all the wisdom and decision of Washington to keep down rebellion. The tax was repealed in 1802 by the action of the supporters of Jefferson, on the ground that it was "oppressive, vexatious and peculiarly obnoxious."

When war with Great Britain on questions of commerce became inevitable, there was a deficiency in the treasury, and the Secretary, Albert Gallatin, proposed to raise $5,000,000 a year by internal tax—$3,000,000 directly and the remainder indirectly. Under the earlier plan the internal revenues had never much exceeded $1,000,000 a year, but the nation had so advanced in wealth and revenues that Mr. Gallatin's system produced more than $5,000,000 the first year. This system was abandoned promptly as soon as the exigency was passed, it having been regarded only as a war tax by the people and honorably treated and disposed of as such by the government.

When the rebellion reached proportions far beyond the picturing of the gloomiest imagination, money in great sums became necessary, and everything that could be reached was made to pay tribute. The system was severe and heroic, but the people bore it patiently, and millions in addition were given voluntarily to the cause. In 1868 the collections from internal revenues amounted to $309,226,813. Now they amount to just about one-third of that sum, but instead of being needed, they add only to the surplus with which the treasury overflows. The government is continually gathering more money than it can wisely spend, and the internal taxes could well be spared altogether. A very objectionable feature of this now superfluous system is the expense of collection. The support of an army of tax gatherers is felt the more severely the more the taxes are reduced, for it consumes a growing percentage of the collections in salaries. This is a burden upon the people for which neither of the two great parties will find it healthy to much longer accept the responsibility. The incoming Congress, Republican in one branch and Democratic in the other, is admirably constituted to feel and yield to the pressure of public sentiment. When one party moves for the abolition of the system, the other will not be likely to take a stand in its defense. It may possibly be ascertained beyond a peradventure, before the final adjournment of this Congress, that no party can hope to win in the next election that persists in upholding this costly and unnecessary system of taxation.

For twenty-three years the government of this republic has been managed with the most brilliant success, under circumstances of most extraordinary difficulty, by the statesmen and officials elected to power by the Republican party and if the party should go out of power to-morrow its financial record would be the most brilliant in the history of nations; and yet the tribes of the Democratic press would lead their readers to suppose that during the whole period the national government had been running a career of reckless waste, prodigal extravagance and blundering incapacity.

Our Minister to England has been complimented by being elected Rector of the University of St. Andrews. This is an honor rarely bestowed upon a foreigner, and Mr. Lowell is exceedingly fortunate.

It is hinted that Governor Butler is inclined to attribute his defeat to the Irish Democrats in Boston, whom he believes failed to support him as they ought. A poor reward for faithful followers.

Ex-Governor Plaisted, of Maine, who is editing a Butler Democratic paper in Augusta, says that the Democratic party wants the cohesive power of a great principle.

The dark horse in the race for the Speakership who is most feared by the prominent candidates is ex-Senator Eaton, of Connecticut.

Congress will meet one week from next Monday.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 12, 1893.

ED. JOURNAL:—The long dearth of politics experienced by the capital of the United States has in no way interfered with the prosperity of the city. It has awakened from its Summer sleep refreshed, strengthened, and more beautiful than before. This is the season for Washington's transient guests to return, and the city as a hostess, as a whole, receives them arrayed in lovelier attire than she has worn on any similar occasion. During the Summer absence of residents and guests, no time was lost in renewing and improving her toilet for this grand Autumnal reunion. The six months' absence notices many improvements. New streets have been opened and paved with concrete; sidewalks have been laid; barren places have been covered by substantial, elegant buildings, and new fountains send up their crystal columns. A liberal use of paint has concealed traces of dilapidation, and the entire city looks so fresh and new that every one returning to it is impressed by its advantageous contrast with other towns. As

THE CAPITAL CITY.

Washington possesses unique advantages as a place of residence, and wealthy persons from every part of the republic are securing houses for their families here. Army and navy officers, appointed for life, are buying sites and homes, and foreign governments are investing in official residences for their ambassadors. In the northwestern portion of the city are palatial homes that princes might covet. Some of these are owned by well known statesmen and men of distinction, and are counted among the sights of the city. The most in demand by sight-seers are the houses of James G. Blaine, Jerome Bonaparte, Senators Pendleton and Cameron, ex-Senators Windom and Sherman. The gigantic system of public improvements inaugurated for Washington has progressed so steadily and satisfactorily that nothing concerning the future growth and embellishments of the city seems extravagant or impossible.

The oft-repeated scheme of removing the National Capitol to a more central and salubrious part of the republic, suggests too many formidable obstacles for the Government even to take the matter seriously in hand. The cities of certain enterprising towns, that have loudly asserted their claims to the SUCCESSORSHIP OF WASHINGTON, would be more eligible, no one denies, for the capital city of a country three thousand miles wide. But "might have been," is not, and the destiny of Washington may be pronounced fixed irrevocably through the immense sums that have already been expended here on the Government buildings. To desert these costly marble palaces, which half a century has failed to complete, and begin the erection of similar ones elsewhere, would seem an unjustifiable prodigality that the resources even of a lavish and wealthy nation, could not but feel. Standing on the Virginia side of the Potomac, and viewing the majestic fabric known as the Capitol building of Washington, as it appears from this point perfect and complete in its white sublimity and chaste grandeur, the sacrifice of removal rushes upon one in its strongest light. The stately structure is acknowledged to be the most magnificent state edifice in the world. During the Summer vacation it received new touches of beauty. Its long deserted chambers and marble corridors will soon again resound to the tread and voices of statesmen and demagogues. The Executive Mansion that has seemed severely empty during the President's absence, is again brightened by his presence. The city is rapidly receiving its Winter compliment of legislators, jurists, journalists, lobbyists, office-seekers, beauty and fashion. The cauldron of politics will soon begin to bubble and boil with its conflicting elements, and the Capitol at Washington will again be the cynosure of the nation's eyes.

It is suggested by leading politicians that there should be a conference of leading Republicans of different parts of the country at Washington, prior to the meeting of the Republican National Committee December 12, to consult as to the best future policy of the party. The cities for which the strongest claims, for the holding of the Republican Convention have been made are Philadelphia, Saratoga, Indianapolis, Cincinnati, Boston and Chicago.

MAHONE'S LETTER.

Senator Sherman's Opinion of Mahone's Recent Letter and a Prospective Sectional Issue.

Senator Mahone's letter promises to have more than passing attention paid to it. Senator Sherman has been interviewed at Washington, and says: "I have read the address, and think it an honest manly statement. I think when the Chairman of the Democratic Executive Committee can shoot a man down in cold blood and then boast of it; can tell a Coroner that there is no need of an inquest, because he was ready to avow the killing; when the Sheriff don't dare to arrest the murderer, and when such things as were done to those negroes in Danville go unpunished, it is time the old war cry is raised. Men who are doing these things, are fast stirring up the public feeling of the North to fever heat. I am not very excitable myself, but when I learn of such acts as these, I am not disposed to look with any degree of complacency upon the prospect of Democratic ascendancy in the new year. I believe the perpetrators of these outrages are sowing dragon's teeth."

"Then you do not believe they strengthen the Democratic party?"

"I know if they continue it will make the entire North solid again, and that means the success of the Republican party. If we should be forced to a sectional issue, when there is no cause for it, we should gain no advantage, but if they force the issue upon us as they are now doing, it will make us victorious."

"Do you think the financial affairs of Virginia have anything to do with the present fight?"

"I don't want to discuss that question. Virginia finances are local matters. The questions are whether citizens are to be murdered because they are of a different political faith?"

"Do you think these outrages are likely to make the subject of Congressional investigation?"

"I should not like to give an opinion upon that point, as I may be called to act upon it."

"Have not similar outrages been investigated by the Senate in previous years?"

"Klulux bands and other such organizations, have been investigated by the Senate, but arrests have not been made nor will they be unless they could be shown to be part of an organized plan to disfranchise voters."

Speakership Contest.

A determined effort is being made by friends of Carlisle to induce Cox to withdraw from the Speakership contest. Mr. Cox, it is understood, refuses to do so. If he ever hopes to be Speaker his chances for getting the place can hardly be better than they seem at present. While no one believes that he will hold any great strength in the caucus, yet neither Randall nor Carlisle can count a sufficient number of votes to get the nomination upon the first ballot. As the watchword of the Cox and Carlisle men is "Anything to beat Randall," it may be that in a deadlock between the two leaders, Cox holding a small vote can ultimately get a small support of Carlisle men, if by changing they could defeat Pennsylvania. The fact that Mr. Carlisle's friends are anxious for Cox to withdraw, and they believe the New Yorker's candidacy to be a barrier to the Kentuckian's chance of success is also regarded by the Randall men as another evidence of Carlisle's weakness, and a complete answer to the strength put forward for him by his enthusiastic friends. It is asserted that Cox will not receive a complimentary vote of the entire New York delegation on the first ballot. Randall expects to have four, and probably five, New York votes on the first ballot, after which he will receive the support of all the New Yorkers, save perhaps five. In the event of Randall getting part of the New York votes at first, the friends of Carlisle in the delegation, it is said, will, if politic, cast their votes for the Kentuckian, leaving Cox completely stranded. Under these circumstances, and others of equal weight, Carlisle's friends say Mr. Cox should withdraw in favor of Carlisle.

Reorganizing the Republican Party.

The New York Tribune of the 24th says: The second day's enrollment of Republican voters of the city under the new plan to reorganize the party showed a largely increased interest in all the Assembly districts. There were 8,820 voters enrolled yesterday, 3,011 more than the first day. At the present time almost twice as many Republicans have registered as were members of the old association, and about three or four times as many as took an active part in those associations. Here the movement is reported as a great success by the gentlemen who have given their time and attention to perfect the new plan.

The Senate Beyond Democratic Reach.

The San Francisco Bulletin believes the Senate of the United States may now be said to be beyond Democratic control until 1897. The bitterness of the contest in Virginia has landed Mahone and Riddleberger in the ranks of the Republicans. They cannot go back to the Bourbon Democracy without personal disgrace and political death. This will make the next Senate practically forty Republican to thirty-six Democrats. The late elections settled the fact that there will be no chance to recruit their numbers in 1895. On the contrary, they are likely to lose strength. To secure control of the Senate, which will commence its sessions with the new administration, they must gain three Senators. The outlook at this moment is that they will not gain one.

The terms of twenty-five Senators will expire in March, 1895. Fourteen of these twenty-five are Democrats, representing Alabama, Arkansas, California, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Louisiana, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Ohio, Oregon and South Carolina. But instead of being sure of retaining possession of all these seats, at least three are doubtful, viz: California, Oregon and Indiana. The chance of gaining a seat from the Republicans in the eleven States in which there will be vacancies are very remote. These States are Colorado, Connecticut, Illinois, Iowa, Kansas, Nevada, New Hampshire, New York, Pennsylvania, Vermont and Wisconsin. There never was any chance of gaining a seat in any of these States, except New York. But the last election almost destroys all hope for them there.

The only Democratic possibilities in 1894 are the election of a President and a House by a small majority. If there should be a failure of the people to elect, they will still choose a President in the present Democratic House. But that is the utmost extent to which they can go. They will be in a minority in the present Senate. Furthermore, they are likely to be in a still greater minority in the Senate of the Forty-ninth Congress—that is to say, from 1885 to 1887.

Admiral Porter's Report.

The annual report of Admiral Porter is notable for the criticism of the new armored steel cruisers designed by the Naval Advisory Board, as being deficient in canvass and so constructed as not to work under sail. This, in time of war, would be a fatal defect, he thinks, as all sailing stations would be closed against us, and in time of peace naval vessels should cruise under sail for the sake of economy. The Admiral believes in the immediate construction of a large number of swift vessels with powerful guns, and thinks we should build twenty large ships in two years. Prompt attention to lake defense he considers of prime importance, and sees no reason why we should not commence to build on the shore of the lakes two of the heaviest ironclads, with powerful guns and great speed. Upon this subject, the Admiral says there is every facility for constructing such vessels on Lake Erie, and one such ship stationed near Buffalo could, in case of threatened hostilities, drop down to the mouth of the Welland Canal and demolish the entrance, locks, etc., rendering the work useless for naval or military purposes. Even should a vessel succeed in passing the Canals she would be immediately destroyed. He recommends that one of the proposed ironclads be built on Lake Ontario and kept on the stocks ready for launching in case of necessity.

Defaulting County Treasurer Made Whole.

A private dispatch to Eureka, Wednesday, from Hamilton, states that the Grand Jury dismissed the indictment against Louis Cook, the defaulting Treasurer of White Pine county. He embezzled $300,000 of the county's funds in 1872 and fled to Japan, where he became rich, and where he now resides. A partially successful effort was made in 1875 to pass a bill in the Legislature releasing him from criminal liability, and allow him to return to Nevada on condition that he would pay back the money embezzled to White Pine county. Minister De Long and other influential persons strove to get the privilege for him without avail. Now comes the Grand Jury and wipes out the indictment hanging over the culprit ever since the time of the embezzlement.

Some Revelations.

In the Colton-Stanford case, Wednesday, Douty testified that the Los Angeles Anti-Monopolist was paid a monthly salary of $250 in 1877 and 1878 for its services. Governor Sanford, of Arizona, was also found on the corporation salary list, having, by order of Crocker, been paid $250 per month by the Western Development Company from August, 1877, to March, 1878, for what service Douty was unable to say.

The Danville Riots.

A Danville dispatch of the 21st conveys the subjoined intelligence: A committee of forty, appointed to investigate the facts connected with the riots of the 3d instant, organized on the 12th instant and appointed proper sub-committees. All persons having information in relation to the matters to be investigated were requested to appear before the sub-committee to testify. The sub-committee regularly attended to its duties from the morning of the 13th to the evening of the 21st, during which time 37 witnesses were examined. The said witnesses for the most part were known to the committee personally, and represented all classes and vocations. They are intelligent and thoroughly reliable. The committee makes a careful and impartial review of all the facts connected with the riots. After speaking of ill-feeling existing between the blacks and the whites, the committee states that the negroes were the aggressors. The report adds: "Two days before the election circulars signed by prominent citizens and leaders of both political parties were issued, guaranteeing every person, without regard to color or party, the free and undisturbed right of voting. No violence, threat or intimidation whatever, was shown toward the negro or Coalition voters; but, on the contrary, such voters were repeatedly assured by the citizens, police and military officers sent to Danville by the Governor, that they would be protected in their right to vote as they chose. Election day was quiet, without any disturbance or difficulty at any precinct, or elsewhere in the town, and the election itself was honestly conducted, and free and fair in all respects. The negroes, as a body, refrained from voting under the advice and command of their party leaders, while the voted the Coalition ticket without hindrance from any quarter."

The Tariff Policy.

The fall trade meeting, which Waterson and other anti-protective Democrats are arranging at New York is expected to have a powerful effect on the country in shaping the tariff policy. Waterson believes that Pennsylvania methods should no longer prevail. Hewitt thinks the revenue leg is the only one the Democratic party has to stand on, and the battle should be fought and won in America, as it was in England, if it takes a quarter of a century to do it. A part of the programme is to elect Carlisle or Cox Speaker of the House.

Jay Gould's Tomb.

A mausoleum is being constructed for the Gould family, in Woodlawn cemetery, New York, which is impressive by reason of its simplicity, harmony of design and massiveness. Its form is that of an Ionic temple, raised on a platform three steps above the level of the sward surrounding it. The workmen say that the foundation of the platform is a mass of concrete, that makes it practically a single stone, eight feet in thickness by thirty-six or more in length, and twenty eighth in width. The structure is wholly of finely hammered Western granite, without a single band or panel or other surface that is polished. Thirty graceful columns, eleven feet high by thirteen inches in diameter, surround the mausoleum and add to the support of its massive roof. Space for twenty bodies is afforded within. In the front of the tomb will be a bronze door of Grecian design, pierced so as to afford a view of the interior. A widow representing a choir of angels will occupy the space now left in the rear wall. It is understood that the inner walls will be of delicately shaded marbles, arranged so as to present simple and pleasing effects.

No brick or metal is employed in the construction of the tomb, excepting the bronze doors and the necessary lead in the window. It stands in the center of a circular plot of three or four acres, on the highest ground in the cemetery, and is surrounded only by grass, not a single tree or shrub as yet rising on this ground.

NOT A CANDIDATE.—Some of the papers in the State have made favorable mention of the name of Capt. Matt Canavan as a candidate for Congress. The Times-Review, however, feels authorized to state that such mention was without authority from him and that he is not an aspirant for the position. No better man could be found in either party, or one who would more faithfully or effectually represent the people of Nevada in the House of Representatives, and his many friends in all portions of the State will regret his declination.—Tuscarora Times-Review.

A patent medicine advertisement reads: "Fifty dollars reward to any one who will produce a case of liver complaint that our bitters will not cure." This generous offer will undoubtedly occasion great rivalry among the leading producers of liver complaint and stimulate them to renewed exertions.—[Lowell Citizen.]

Carlisle and Randall.

[San Francisco Call].

The Tribune estimates that the first ballot for Speaker will show Carlisle in the lead with 97 votes, Randall next with 62 votes, and Cox in the rear with 34 votes. These estimates are based on interviews with Democratic Congressmen throughout the country. The views of a Democratic Congressman at home, when his personal feelings dictate his choice, are apt to be one thing, and the views of the same man in Washington, after a consideration of the party's interests has been impressed upon his mind, quite another. The objection to Mr. Carlisle, which will probably cause a loss of several of these 97 votes, is his place of residence. The Democrats are not in a position this year to venture upon the election of a Southern man as Speaker. No one questions Mr. Carlisle's loyalty to the Union, his integrity as a man or his ability as a statesman. His election is simply a question of expediency. The defeat of Mahone in Virginia makes a solid South. The electoral vote of fifteen States are practically counted before they are cast. The Democrats only need in addition to these the votes of two States like New York and Ohio to secure the election of their ticket. The fact that these Southern States are certain for the Democratic ticket will leave the Democrats free to concentrate all their efforts on two or three Northern States. This condition of things would seem to make a Democratic victory easy, but it has its disadvantages. The North has always shown a disposition to become solid where the South becomes solid. The election of a Southern politician as Speaker and the fact that two or three Northern states will secure the election of a Democrat to the Presidency, would cause a certain per cent. of moderate Democrats to refuse to contribute to this result. There will be an attempt to revive the old sectional feeling in consequence of the defeat of Mahone, and it will not be wise in the Democrats to contribute material to that feeling. There is no doubt but what is termed the legitimate business interests of the North would take alarm at the election of a Southern man as Speaker, whose views on the tariff are known to be hostile to the protective principle. Mr. Carlisle is not an extremist on the tariff question, but he limits the power of Congress in adjusting tariff rates to providing the needed revenue. It is true that at the present time the needed revenue will make any tariff protective, but the time will soon come when Congress must choose between internal taxes and a tariff sufficiently high to provide nearly the entire revenue the Government will need. The chances are that this logic of the political situation will do more for Randall than he can for himself.

A WIRE CONNECTION.—Some schemer in Virginia City proposes to connect the county safe to the telegraph office by means of electric wires that will ring a bell whenever a county official gets within grabbing distance. What the Virginia taxpayers want is some genius who can get a wire connection with that $8,000 that walked off a few days ago.—Carson Appeal.

The death rate in London has decreased during the past six years from 24½ per 1,000 to 20.

Advice to Mothers.

Are you disturbed at night and broken of your rest by a sick child suffering and crying with pain of cutting teeth? To Dyspeptics.

The most common signs of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, are an oppression at the stomach, nausea, flatulency, water-brash, heart-burn, vomiting, loss of appetite, and constipation. Dyspeptic patients suffer untold miseries, bodily and mental. They should stimulate the digestion, and secure regular daily action of the bowels, by the use of moderate doses of Ayer's Pills.

After the bowels are regulated, one of these Pills, taken each day after dinner, is usually all that is required to complete the cure.

AYER'S PILLS are sugar-coated and purely vegetable—a pleasant, entirely safe, and reliable medicine for the cure of all disorders of the stomach and bowels. They are the best of all purgatives for family use.

IN AND OUT OF TOWN.

What is Being Said and Done in a Small Way.

Remember the A. O. U. W. ball at Verdi to-night.

The Sheriff of Lassen county came up from the Bay yesterday morning.

The case of Reese vs. Kinkadee will be argued in the District Court Saturday.

John Lee, of Wadsworth, W. E. Price, of Franktown, and D. Orice of Carson, were in town yesterday.

Henry Berry, who has been sick for a week or two, appeared on the streets yesterday for the first time.

The health of the community is better than for a long time past. The doctors are having but very little to do.

The V. & T. and the C. & O. roads will give half rates to teachers attending the Institute at Reno on Dec. 27th.

The case of Dalton vs. Dalton was called in the District Court yesterday and by consent was continued for the term.

A subscription is being taken up for the purpose of buying a medal for the Reno Guard to encourage and stimulate the shooters.

Senator Dennis thinks that "present appearances indicate that there won't be much 'nutriment' in the next Senatorial fight."

The Junior Hose Company have sold seventy-five tickets to their dance Thanksgiving night. The boys intend to make this the dance of the season.

Hank Rhodes is said to have greatly improved since being removed to the Asylum, and it is thought that in a short time he will be himself again.

Mrs. D. W. Ridener, of Susanville, who was called here several days ago to attend her sick boy, will leave for home this morning, and will take her boy with her.

The leaching process for the reduction of ores is becoming quite popular in Nevada. At Belmont, Ellsworth and other places in Eastern Nevada this process is in successful operation.

Sam Lattin is back from a visit to New York State. When he left here he had some notion of locating in the East, but finding things so different from what he expected changed his mind.

Lieutenant Governor Laughton passed through Reno yesterday morning on his return from Arizona. The sickness of his daughter called him home somewhat sooner than he had calculated upon.

Dan Boyd sent to State Treasurer Tufts yesterday $20,000 on account of State taxes. The State's proportion of taxes raised in Washoe county this year will figure up about $35,000.

There is much complaint at the dilapidated and unsafe condition of the bridge that crosses Peavine Creek, on Second street. The Commissioners should direct the Roadmaster to make necessary repairs.

BREVITIES.

Capt. Wallace is in from Lake City.

It costs $100 to go from Haily, Wood River, to the Cosur d'Alene mining district.

The annual meeting of the Mexican Mining Company is called for Tuesday, December 4.

D. W. Bryant has retired from the Silver Star mill and John Smith succeeds him as miller.

A meeting of the W. O. T. U. is called for Saturday afternoon from 2 to 3 o'clock. A prompt and full attendance is required.

Several farmers near Lovelock's will sow grain this Fall with the view of testing the practicability of raising grain without irrigation.

Treasurer Nevins, of Storey, has filed a supplemental bond to the amount of $11,000. The entire amount required is now supplied and all that remains is the approval of the Commissioners.

A new fire plug has been placed near the center of the block on the west side of Virginia street, between Second and Commercial Row. Another will be placed in front of Brookins' place, and then that portion of town will be prepared to successfully fight any fire that may start.

Norton's team pulled out for Peavine yesterday with a load of provisions and miners' supplies for Capt. Griffin, who has a force of men at work in the old Paymaster mine. Things begin to look as though Peavine was on the eve of another boom.

Some villainous individual opened the switch on the N. & O. last evening just before the train came in from the north. Fortunately the engineer saw the danger in time to stop the train. What object anyone could have in doing a thing of that kind is a mystery.

Nevada Lodge, Knights of Honor, will be instituted this evening in Odd Fellows Hall, corner of Second and Virginia streets. It is desirable that all members who have signed the charter roll be present. The work will commence promptly at 6:30 o'clock.

A quiet wedding took place at the Court House yesterday, the contracting parties being Oscar Ritter and Jennie Dodge. The ceremony was performed by Judge Boardman, and was the first official act of the kind performed by him since his incumbency in office. Dan Boyd and Deputy Clerk Knox volunteered to act as witnesses to the marriage contract.

An Accommodating Administrator.

In the District Court the other day Judge Webster made an exhibit for Public Administrator Dickens which shows him to be one of the most accommodating Administrators in the country. The figures were brought out in the Tait estate, in which it was shown that Mr. Dickens had paid out to the creditors the sum of $114 more than he had received, exclusive of the fees and percentages to which he himself was entitled, aggregating between $200 and $300, the estate being appraised at about $1,100.

The Pyramid Mine.

The reports from the Pyramid mine at Pyramid Lake are exceedingly encouraging. Without doubt a great and very rich body of ore is being developed. The Appeal says an assay made by the assayers of the U. S. Mint at Carson from ore taken from the cross cut 550 feet below the surface shows $130 85 silver and 58 46 100 per cent. or $200 per ton copper, making the total value per ton $330 85.

Daily for Carson.

The order removing the Carson land office to Eureka, has been temporarily vacated by Commissioner McFarland, of the General Land Office. This is undoubtedly prompted by a desire to have the Nevada representatives explain the situation.

Shipping Points.
It is popular now-a-day for men engaged in any specific branch of industry to form associations for mutual benefit and protection. A move of this kind is being talked of among stock raisers. The object sought is two fold: first, to establish some degree of uniformity in the price at which cattle will be sold; and second, to establish regular feeding and shipping points on the line of the railroad. The points mentioned as being the most desirable for this purpose, are Carlin, Lovelock, and Reno.

The Wages of Carpenters.
Carpenters in Virginia city command $5 per day. Their wages in St. Louis are from $2 to $3 a day. In Dakota carpenters are in demand at $3 50 a day. Living there is costly. In El Paso carpenters receive from $4 to $5 a day, but there is no great demand for them as yet. In Charleston wages range from $1 50 to $2 25. In Chicago the building trades are brisk and carpenters' wages are $2 75 to $3 a day.

The new firm have added largely to their stock of drugs, chemicals, patent medicines, wines and liquors for medicinal purposes; toilet and fancy articles, etc. In the dispensing departments they make a specialty of physicians' prescriptions and family receipts, bringing to their already large experience the latest achievements in scientific pharmacy, and are prompt in filling all orders intrusted to them.
